Vineyard

January snow cover changed the landscape into a Winter Wonderland. Tedious work of the pruning and tying of the grapevines will continue until the middle of April. So far the lowest temperature recorded in the vineyard was 8 degrees (not bad.) The serious bud damage starts at 0 degrees.

Sand Castle Building

Warm days of January permitted contractors to pour a concrete terrace pad. This will accommodate future wine tastings with a river view, but that will have to wait for some warmer weather. The semi final inspection of the Castle went well and the partial occupancy should come come this month!
